

30 Post-Graduate Rabbis Receive Semicha Degree

The Rabbi Isaac Eichanan Theological Seminary of Yeshiva University, 526 West 187th Street, conducted a ceremony yesterday for thirty students who were ordained with a Semicha, the highest degree in Jewish theological learning. The rabbis had completed a three-year post-graduate course.

Participating in the ceremony were the Rev. Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of the university; the Rev. Dr. Joseph E. Soloveitchik, Professor of Palmud and Jewish Philosophy; the Rev. Dr. Emanuel Rackman, assistant president for rabbinic studies, and the Rev. Dr. Herschel Schachter, president of the University Rabbinic

367925

people